Public Speaking: Speaking Under Pressure

Course Overview

This workshop has been designed for those in positions where they must speak in front of audiences that are hostile or demanding. This material is also suitable for those who are relatively new speakers who want some encouragement to speak up in meetings or who want some training before they begin making presentations on behalf of the organization.

Speaking under pressure, or thinking on your feet, means being able to quickly organize your thoughts and ideas, and then being able to convey them meaningfully to your audience to modify their attitudes or behaviour. It applies to formal speeches as well as everyday business situations. It requires presence of mind, goal orientation, adaptation, and judgment. It also requires differentiating between oral and written communications.

This course is aimed at improving skills and learning some new techniques which will give delegates the persuasive edge when they are making a presentation, fielding difficult questions, or presenting complex information.

Course Objectives

Specific learning objectives include:

- Apply quick and easy preparation methods that will work whether delegates have one minute or one week to prepare.
- Prepare for questions, even before delegates know what those questions will be.
- Overcome nervousness that delegates may have when speaking in front of a group, particularly if the group is not sympathetic to what you have to say.
- Use presentation techniques that establish delegates credibility and get people on your side.

Target Audience

Any organization or delegates who want to build their confidence for public speaking in a hostile environment.

Prerequisite

There are no prerequisites for this course.

Duration

- 1 Day

Course Outline

Getting Started

To begin, we will explore what Speaking Under Pressure is. Delegates will also learn an easy way to structure any presentation.

Planning

This session will offer delegates seven easy ways to better prepare for a presentation even if you do not know the time, date, or topic.

Force Field Analysis

Next, delegates will learn about a structured method of looking at two opposing forces acting on a situation.

Understanding Your Audience

During this session, we will explore a three-phase needs approach and the idea of common ground. Delegates will also practice creating an audience profile.

Controlling Your Jitters

This session will focus on how to make the most of stage fright.

Making Your Listener Hear You

During this session, delegates will explore what turns listeners on and off in a large group discussion.

Key Themes

To wrap up the first day, delegates will learn what a key theme is, how to create one, and how to distill it into a key sentence. Delegates will also be given a small homework assignment.

Key Sentences

To begin the second day, we will wrap up our discussion on key themes. Delegates will share their homework assignment.

Structuring Ideas

This session will explore the idea of using three key points for a presentation. We will also share some tips for sending a memorable message.

Organization Methods

Next, delegates will learn some different ways to organize the information in the body of their message.

Our Body Language

During this session, delegates will take a close look at positive and negative body messages.

If You Could Be...

To prepare for the major presentation later on in the workshop, delegates will be asked to give a short presentation on this question: "If you could wake up tomorrow having gained any one ability or quality, what would it be?"

Beginnings and Endings

This session will give delegates some ways to create strong beginnings and endings.

Expanding a Basic Plan

So far, this workshop has focused on small presentations. This session will give delegates some tips on fleshing out those small presentations should they be required to present something longer than just a few minutes.

Presentations

To conclude the workshop, delegates will prepare and present a short five-minute speech. Delegates will also evaluate each other.

Workshop Wrap-Up

At the end of the day, delegates will have an opportunity to ask questions and fill out an action plan.
